

MONDAY EVENING, JULY 26, 1886.

We have proof—almost conclusive to us—that the malicious article in last week's issue of the Cynthiana Democrat which sought to malign and belittle the editor and proprietors of this paper as well as a candidate for Congress in this district was undoubtedly the work of a couple of contemptible curs in this city.

The editor of the Democrat may deny this, but his own paper contains proof that he wasn't the author of the article. The matter is not deserving of further notice from us, and we only refer to it now in order to let the writers know that we "have them on our list." They had the least occasion in the world to attempt to belittle the editor and proprietors of this paper and when they charged one of the proprietors with being governed by mercenary motives they stated what they knew to be a malicious lie. Their action is that of a coward, who would stab his friend in the dark, or of miserable curs who would get behind the worthless carcass of the editor of the paper referred to, and snap and snarl at friends and foes alike. In conclusion all we have to say is that their would-be charges will prove as harmless, as the snappings and snarlings of such curs.

VERMONT Democrats have nominated S. B. Shurtleff for Governor, and P. M. Meldon for Lieutenant Governor.

In the last assessment, Kenton shows the largest increase in value of any county in the State. A heavy decrease is noted in the assessments of Bourbon, Woodford, Clark, Harrison and other counties.

J. W. EYLER, of the West Union Defender, is spoken of as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the 12th district of Ohio. Eyer is a fearless defender of the faith that's in him, and strikes right and left for his party whenever occasion demands.

The Prohibitionists of Clermont County Ohio, are waging war to the bitter end against the liquor dealers. The saloons in Felicity and Williamsburg, the two principal towns in the county, have been forced to close. It is thought those of Batavia, the county seat, will have to succumb too. The interest is lively, and the fight is a bitter one.

A REPORT comes from New York that Hon. Joseph Pulitzer, the distinguished editor of the World, and Hon. William Dorsheimer, of the Star, are hunting each other with a dagger, or some other weapon, and are exceedingly anxious to engage in a deadly duel. Of course, the combat has only been prevented by the minions of the law. The cause of the unpleasantness between the gentlemen is that Pulitzer said Dorsheimer was "another," and Dorsheimer sarcastically retorted, "you ain't, are you?" Dorsheimer is also alleged to have said in Pulitzer's hearing, referring to the latter's nose, "I would like to pull it, sir."

Democrats, do Your Duty.

The election comes off next Monday, and it behooves every Democrat to turn out and do his duty. Those who have the future success of the party at heart will do this without waiting to be asked. In this connection the Times-Democrat, of Flemingsburg, gives some good advice. It says:

"Democrats who wish to see a Democratic Congressman elected from this district this fall, should stand by the nominees of the party now. Let it be understood that a nomination by the party means something more than an idle and empty form, and that those who receive a nomination are representatives of the party and its principles."

The ticket in this county is one which every member of the party can cheerfully support. In point of efficiency and ability the nominees are vastly the superiors of their Republican opponents. In addition to this, most of them have had experience in the positions to which they aspire, and deserve a rousing endorsement.

The Racket in Rowan.

The latest news from Rowan County is not of the most encouraging nature. Everything is quiet now and Judge Cole is leaving nothing undone to restore permanent peace and order, and punish the desperadoes who have brought such disgrace upon the State. In this he is being ably assisted by Hon. Asner Caruth, of Louisville, who is acting as attorney for the Commonwealth. The grand jury was completed Thursday last, and Judge Cole's charge to it had the right ring. A dispatch from there says: "He instructed the jury to diligently inquire into the more recent troubles which had caused the presence of troops in Morehead, and find true bills against the law-breakers. He was especially severe upon the practice of carrying concealed weapons, and urged the jury to inquire into the infraction of law in this respect. He said he was determined that the laws should be respected in Rowan County, and that should not be pointed at with scorn by other counties in the State. He was determined to do this if he had to adjourn every court in the district to give time for the trial of cases in Rowan; and, if it were necessary, he would have offenders upon the streets of Morehead with ball and chain attachments, soldiers guarding them and a Gatling gun trained upon the street." The Enquirer's correspondent in commenting on this says "no more vigorous charge was ever delivered," and that "it had the hearty approbation of special Commonwealth's Attorney, Mr. Caruth. Saturday the jury reported an indictment for wilful murder against Sam Gooden for killing Squire Peltry not long ago. Gooden was taken over from the Lexington jail Saturday to stand his trial."

William Logan, the young son of Howell Logan, died Saturday morning from the wounds he received a week or so ago in the shooting affray between the two factions. This will embitter the feelings of his friends, and they will undoubtedly seize the first opportunity to avenge his death.

"The bond of Henry Ramey, Deputy Sheriff, charged with shooting and wounding young Logan, was raised from $500 to $2,500." It is not thought that there will be any trouble as long as the troops are at Morehead, but a desperate fight between the factions is looked for as soon as the guards leave. A shipment of three dozen Springfield rifles is reported to have been received by one of the factions last Friday and lively times are looked for.

Mr. Caruth, the special Commonwealth's Attorney, frankly admits that the condition of affairs is the worst he has ever gotten hold of. Things are so mixed up and confused that it will take a long while to ferret out and punish the real criminals. He does not despair, however, and it is earnestly to be hoped that he will succeed.

BRODIE, THE JUMPER.

He Gets a Position in a Museum at a Salary of $100 Per Week.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Steven Brodie, the newsway, who made the daring jump from the Brooklyn bridge, was brought before Judge Kilgus, at the Tombs, on a charge of attempted suicide. Brodie passed the night in the Tombs' prison, in default of finding a bondsman. He slept well until daylight, and awoke fresh as a lark. Not even the trace of stiffness appeared to trouble him, and he put away the prison fare with an excellent appetite. To the reporters he said he felt no injury at all as consequence of his jump. The scratch and bruises on his side he believed had been caused while scrambling into the boat.

The case was adjourned until Wednesday next and Brodie was released on $1,000 bail.

Alfred Dyer, Brodie's bondsman, is a lawyer who has been generally expressed the opinion that the charge of attempted suicide for which the penalty is two years in state prison, a fine of $1,000 or both could not be made to hold water, as there was no intent to kill. It is believed that some charge of infraction of the bridge ordinance will be substituted for attempted suicide, as the judge before postponing the case asked for a copy of the bridge ordinance.

A mine museum manager on the bowery has hired Brodie for $100 a week.

Defaulter Thompson's Bondsman. ST. LOUIS, July 26.—The bondsman of the absconding cashier Thompson have made a proposition of compromise. Two years ago the cashier gave a new bond, and it seems that the old bond was never released, and as the dealings began several years ago, both sets of bondsmen are now liable. Thompson's father is in the debt also is also R. M. Scruggs, of the dry goods house of Scruggs, Vanderwort & Bailey, W. H. Thompson, receiver of the bank, is also on the second bond. The amount of each is $50,000. The proposition is to pay $50,000 each to obtain a release of further liability, and also to secure possession of certain notes of the cashier held by the bank. The proposition has been submitted by the receiver to the court for instructions.

Iron Trade Hoaxing.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 25.—Iron manufacturers, almost without exception, look forward to an excellent fall trade. There has not as yet been any advance in prices, but little or no cutting is reported. The card rates are being maintained, and many quick orders are being placed, while the inquiries being made are of a flattering nature. Several large iron manufacturing establishments in western Pennsylvania, which have been partially closed for a year past, are getting ready to begin operations with full blast on the 1st of November.

Successful Arrests.

CHICAGO, July 26.—John H. Michaels & Charles H. Brown, comprising a detective firm which has been doing business at 104 LaSalle street, have been arrested on a charge of burglary. J. M. Bailey, cashier of the Walker Chattel Mortgage company, charges Michaels and Brown misused the storehouse of the company on Wednesday night and took $30 worth of furniture. An employee, who was sleeping on the place claims he saw the accused taking out the goods.

Testing the Power of Dynamite.

CHICAGO, July 26.—An experiment to test the power of dynamite has been tried on the meadows north of the marine hospital. The test was a very bold one, weighing about 800 pounds, was placed over a dynamite cartridge, supposed to be the same size as the Haymarket bomb. A block of stone was placed on top of the boiler. The fuse was ignited and the men took shelter. The explosion was terrific. Both the boiler and stone were blown to about a hundred feet and made four feet deep and several feet wide. It was said the result of this experiment will be presented in the Anarchist trial.

A Question

Often asked, but seldom answered satisfactorily: "Is there a remedy known to the medical profession that will ally the suffering patient to women who are subject to Dysmenorrhoea and its attendant discomforts?"

Ladies

If you have not tried it, do so AT ONCE.

There is relief for you; it has been found.

Tongaline

Read what an eminent physician has to say upon the subject:

"I have derived particularly gratifying results from the use of Tongaline in cases of Dysmenorrhoea. It is a lady of feminine constitution, and a case of this kind, which has been driven almost to the verge of insanity by her monthly sufferings, and the attendant discomforts. It relieved her promptly, and she now passes the most desecrated periods with but little discomfort. I could mention other instances of a similar character, but this is a remarkable case."
